

Landscape Product Guide

MIDWEST USA | EDITION 1.4

INTRODUCTION

Less is more.

While products are an important part of what forms the backbone of our company, we like to think it's less about products, and more about people. More about our customers, their needs, ambitions, and goals. More about our employees, their well-being, and their dedication to our customers.

As we look back over the last few years at the many re-alignments of resources that have enabled us to work smarter together, we know that less really is more. Less time spent working harder developing new products; and more time spent working smarter on innovative ways to incorporate the most popular colors and textures across both masonry and landscape product lines, is moving us all toward a more cohesive experience.

As we look forward, we remain committed to doing more, and doing better; in ways that will help all of our people do the same. We are committed to more progress, more education, more service, more communication, with less friction, stress, and guesswork. I want to take this opportunity to thank all of you for being a part of our journey.

A photograph of a stone wall and steps. The wall is made of large, irregular grey stones. A white window frame is visible on the left. In the foreground, there are grey stone steps and a paved area made of rectangular grey stones. A large, round, dark brown pot filled with bright pink flowers sits on the paved area. The scene is brightly lit, casting shadows.

FREESTANDING & RETAINING WALL

Capabilities Chart

This chart provides general construction limits based on a typical planter bed behind the wall. Reference the available Estimating Guides (Nueva®, Ortana & Proterra™) for higher retaining walls, where there is any sort of load (slope, fence, traffic) behind the wall, or where any other special conditions exist. Design support is recommended when there is a pedestrian guard required [area behind the wall is accessible and the wall height exceeds 600mm (23.6")] and/or a building permit is required [wall height exceeds 1,000mm (39.4")].
